About SMART

The University of New Mexico is committed to maintaining a campus environment that is free from sexual harassment. Sexual violence can cause tremendous distress and greatly impact the life of a victim. To ensure the best, most effective services and processes for handling sexual violence on our campus are available, UNM has created a Sexual Misconduct and Assault Response Team (SMART).

SMART is part of the university's overall efforts to reduce sexual violence on campus. SMART is a victim-centered, victim-controlled, coordinated response team composed of community and university organizations to quickly and effectively respond to instances of sexual violence while providing appropriate services to all parties involved. SMART responders make services for victims a priority. Victims of sexual violence may choose to activate one or all components of the response team: medical, counseling, law enforcement, and/or the student conduct process.

Mission Statement

The University of New Mexico’s Sexual Misconduct and Assault Response Team (SMART) is a multi-disciplinary collaboration comprised of university and community partners, all committed to facilitating healing and mitigating trauma while promoting accountability.

• Patients can expect that SANE nurses are Safe Zone trained.
• Albuquerque SANE will maintain the highest level of confidentiality. Information or documentation is only released as authorized by the patient.
• Patients will always determine whether or not they receive an exam (consent) and which portions of an exam they will receive. Patients will never be coerced or persuaded to receive an exam by a nurse examiner.
• Patient consent also refers to the abilities of the patient: if the patient is intoxicated, unconscious, or other extenuating circumstances exist, measures will be taken to defer the exam until the patient can fully understand and agree to the exam.
• Nurses will educate the patient about the services available as well as the purpose and value of these services. Ultimately, the patient chooses their care while in the unit.
• Patients can expect the exam will be conducted at a pace that is comfortable for them. Exams can vary from 30 minutes to several hours depending on the services being offered, extent of injuries and patient ability to tolerate the exam.
• Patients can expect that the nurse examiner is unbiased: the nurse will not blame the patient for the assault and the nurse examiner cannot confirm nor invalidate the claim of an assault.
• The patient will receive referrals and discharge instructions from the nurse examiner.
• Patients will receive a follow-up call a few days after the exam from the SANE follow-up nurse unless the patient has specified “no calls”.

Law enforcement can expect the following from SANE staff:
• To be treated with respect and courtesy by SANE staff.
• For the nurse to obtain consent from the patient prior to conducting the exam.
• For questions to be answered to the best of the nurse examiner’s ability.
• For evidence and medical record copies to be available for pick-up the next day (except for weekends).
• Law enforcement will not be allowed to be present while the nurse examiner is conducting the patient interview or exam.

Other parties accompanying the patient can expect the following from SANE staff:
• The patient will make determinations about who supports them through the exam process; the nurse will honor the patient’s decision. Family, friends, and advocates are welcome to join the patient throughout any part of the exam, if the patient agrees to their presence.
• Individuals accompanying the patient may ask questions and seek information from either the advocate or nurse; however, both professionals are focused primarily on the patient and on protecting patient confidentiality.

Description:
Ombuds Services is a resource for staff and faculty supervising staff. The office is open Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. This is a confidential office on main campus where UNM employees can think out loud with a neutral ombudsperson about workplace concerns and available resources. Ombuds Services is not an agency that reports specific complaints or concerns to the university.

We also provide facilitated conversation and workshops on supportive listening and preparing to be a “responsible employee.”

Commitment:
We listen and facilitate each visitor’s efforts to sort out what is on the visitor’s mind, to identify what resources are available to the visitor, and to consider what next steps make sense to the visitor. In a confidential setting, we listen, reflect, and offer resources available to the visitor.

We adhere to the International Ombudsman Associations ethical code and standards of practice which require that our work be independent, neutral, confidential, and informal.
Procedure:

Visitors can call us at 505-277-2993 or come into the office at 1800 Las Lomas NE to schedule a time to visit with an ombudsperson. The visit provides an opportunity for the visitor to think out loud about their situation, be heard by an independent neutral ombuds, and hear about resources that are available to them. The conversation is confidential. The visitor determines next steps.

Expectations:

Please see our website, www.ombudsforstaff.unm.edu for more information, including a description of the visit process.

Reporting:

Staff Ombuds Services is confidential. The only information that is gathered and shared is trend data that is not attributable to any individual. As an independent office, Staff Ombuds Services has no requirements or duty to report the private communication of visitors.
